DOCTORS RECOMMENDING RIDING OF BICYCLES

American People Need More Exercise to Keep Strong and Healthy

Doctors and social organizations throughout the country are warning Americans that the public health is seriously endangered by the present lack of exercise. They point out that the almost dependence on modern inventions as a means to save time and energy has made the people below the line of usual physical activity. As a result most cities in large cities throughout the nation recommend that they have organized the reconstruction of the city so that the place is held in such a way that people can walk or ride in the city.

Corporations are now being called on to make people realize the value of a bicyclist and one of the most significant has been the recent "Bicycle Week" in which a great many exercises in every state of the Union cooperated in every state of the Union to promote the advantages of the bicycle. The success of this movement, which can only be moderately measured in the increased sales of bicycles and those will undoubtedly kindle a renewed interest in all forms.

Present the price of the bicycle is more than $100 and 10 years ago was $100. Now bicycles and new pieces of manufacturing now allow a decrease in price, which itself is a strong argument for the bicycle.

Not possible one of the greatest improvements of today, as an example of the United States Tire Company, pointed out is that the motor of a possible tire passes every mile, has disappeared. Half of the advances in riding is forgetting the tires, which offend us. To be constantly anxious about tires bring a gloom to the bicyclist, which is very annoying. The representative of the United States Tire Company said so many new methods of manufacturing tires have been produced recently that time have approached with great strides the goal of the puncture-proof tire.

Present the question of health and the health of today has two points which are particularly in the beginning of its greatest popularity. These two points suggest the recommendations of the doctors and argue for the renewal of bicycle riding.
